Fonderia is a mostly fusion based band, rich in ethno centric vibes and nearly touching on the Acid Jazz side of things. What they do provide to progressive and fusion listeners is more than easy listening, as they do challenge you with hints of rock and progressive touches. They are a band that delves into many odd sounds beyond the stereotypical jazz/fusion setup, incorporating horns, acoustic guitars, string bass, and even some junk tracking with hip hop elements from time to time. While I would not consider this cd to be an essential part of ones fusion collection, or what has been considered a new wave of Italian progressive bands, Fonderia's music is not hard on the ears or mind for that matter. An interesting band no doubt, and one for the more adventurous and far from convention music fans, attn: world music fans.
